ANHA LIHTC #1 Reduction in Units Request

BACKGROUND

ANHA LIHTC #1 on the Crow Agency was awarded $6,435,000 2021 tax credits to rehab 43 scattered site homes.

This project has faced numerous cost escalations from labor and material prices increasing from the COVID pandemic. As a tribal land project this project is unable to secure bank loans, and Native American Housing Assistance and Self Determination Act rent structure only allows 30% of household income to be charged for rent. This project will therefore be heavily subsidized by ANHA. Due to both of these factors they are requesting reducing the rehab unit count to 32.

PROPOSAL

Staff supports the unit reduction for this project.

Nicole McKeith
Multifamily Project Manager
Montana Board of Housing

Dear Mrs. McKeith,

We are asking for a reduction to the scope of units for the ANHA LIHTC #1 project. Attached you will find our estimated budget after reducing the project's scope to only include 17 multi-family units and 15 single-family units, as opposed to the initial 27. This is the first tax credit project for the ANHA, but they have put together a development team that includes a consultant and architect with vast LIHTC experience nationwide. The initial budget was prepared in the early stages of COVID and as with all projects, nobody could predict the impact that the pandemic would have. MBOH and the federal government knew that there would be significant financing shortfalls for affordable housing projects which is why ARPA funds became available. The project was early on in the closing process and did not have actual bids from subcontractors but still pursued ARPA funds based on the engineers estimates at the time, as we anticipated the increased costs for the project. Unfortunately, prices have continued to rise since that time and once bids started coming in over the past couple of months the prices had increased beyond what was estimated. The development team has spent a considerable amount of time and resources working with the various subcontractors to value engineer and extend the bidding regions and timeline. As a result, the team was able to reduce the overall costs by almost $2 million but as evidenced in the attached budget there was still too much of a funding shortfall. As you know, projects located on tribal trust land are unable to secure bank loans and the NAHASDA rent structure only allows 30% of household income to be charged for rent. The tenants living in the units have very low incomes and the project will be heavily subsidized by the ANHA. Both of these factors cause additional struggles to find outside sources to fill the gap. In closing, the project sought to combat the price increases by receiving ARPA funds from MBOH in the amount of $1,580,483, as well as value engineering and rebidding the project various times but could not cut the deficit to a degree to keep the project feasible as is. In addition, as the team spent time working on value engineering, the costs for other line items were continuing to rise; thus creating a circular issue where very little, if any, benefit was noticed. The reduction of 12 units will still result in a significant positive impact in the community as the project will still rehab 32 total units. It is anticipated that the eliminated units will be placed into the second project which ANHA was recently approved to apply for LIHTCs. If the board approves the reduction of units, we anticipate that we have the final budget in place and can proceed with closing with the investor within the next month. The reduction of units will also decrease the overall construction timeline and make the process easier for the project to proceed to construction and finish the project within the federally mandated deadlines.
